Instead of being ashamed of it, it looks like every town tries to make their murder the biggest one of the year. Alienists always furnish humor, if no facts to a case. Here was one's testimony yesterday: "I find Hickman to have two gold teeth and sore adenoids." So the moral is, Keep away from gold teeth, and watch your adenoids. Yours, WILL ROGERS.

SHIPPING BOARD PLAN ATTACKED

Lower Resolution

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. (Exclusive)—A group of Washington business men who had subscribed capital amounting to $400,000 for the purchase of the American Oriental Mail Line from the Shipping Board under the outstanding terms of sale, decided that they do not want to become bidders. They had told them that the provision permitting interchange of shares would ruin the Puget Sound series, Judge Benjamin S. Croweup told the Senate Commerce minations today.

Gracioso was the only witness at the first session of the committee to support the resolution submitted by Senator Jones of Washington which sets the Shipping Commission at the proposed rate of three cents per bushel on bids on which are due the 1st of Oct. He had not finished his testimony when the committee adjourned until Monday.

RICKY CHANGES IDEAS

Before Gracioso began his testimony before McNary of Oregon, ranking member of the committee, placed in record the letter which F. Ricky, president of the Tacoma Chamber of Commerce, sent Chairman Z. V. O'Connor on Oct. 12, stating the plan by which all three would have the right to enter a port on the Pacific Coast. He submitted a letter from the Federal Board of Trade to the Jeffersonian in answer to Hickey's telegram January 2, in which the head of the "Thomas" line of ships requested the diversion of "California ships to Puget Sound service."

"It is quite certain you would not be able to handle the cargo if you understood what we are trying to cure," Myers told Hickey at that time. "We are not going to let any ship go out of our hands without carrying a cargo from Puget Sound. That costs $60,000 for a voyage. All our outgoing ships have cargo. All our incoming ships have cargo. Therefore what we are trying to do is to get some of the incoming cargo to be handled in this way, and not being handled on foreign ships, to equalize this cost. If a private operator should handle the cargo, he would get a profit of a revenue sufficient to pay his profit."

BOARD'S REVERSAL

surprise was expressed by Groscup when he took the stand over the opposing Board's reversal of its resolution adopted on November 28 by which a majority voted to offer the new lease for sale without interference of ports. The later decision of the board, made on December 27, was to include the right of entry into the ports. It was made after the national exposure involving Congressmen Hill and Swayne & Holt, San Francisco operators, but this was not mentioned by Judge Groscup. He said that he had advised his

NAVAL ACCORD'S COLLAPSE SEEN
Admiral Jones Says Certain
Nations May Withdraw Several to Quit Arms Pact in 1936, He Hints
Large Merchant Fleet Held
Needed for Defense

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3. (AP)—A possible move by "certain signatory nations" to withdraw from the Washington naval arms pact in 1936 was referred to today by Rear-Admiral Hilary P. Jones, retired, in advocating before the House Naval Committee the building up of a large merchant fleet as an adjunct to national defense.
The admiral, a member of the American delegation to the unsuccessful Geneva naval conference, said that the nations contemplating withdrawal from the pact in 1936 were Switzerland, Sweden, and Norway.
He said that the nations which were not signatories to the pact in 1922, but which had joined in 1930, were also contemplating withdrawal.

ROAMING SHIPS
The buyers of the America-Australia-Orient Line of California, which has been operating for years between the Pacific and the Atlantic, have at least six ships "free to roam about the Pacific" under the provision permitting American vessels to enter any port they desire. These surplus vessels could come into Portland and Puget Sound at any time to take lumber cargo, he said.
"I have advised my clients they are in danger of being wiped out by the British shipping firm, so desiring, it can remove American flagships from the sea as a result of its powers over the classifications and insurance of vessels."

URGES CLASSIFICATION
He urged that the Federal government provide for classification and insurance of American ships, citing an instance of an American ship being forced to return from South America in ballast because Lloyd's did not recognize electric welding as a satisfactory method of repairing a boiler.
Jones described how the recoil and the necessity for mechanical loading precluded the equipment of large merchant liners with eight-inch guns, but said that six-inch guns could be mounted quickly on practically all large merchant ships. He then referred to the preponderance of British merchant tonnage over that of the United States.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3. (AP)—Greater control over chain radio broadcasting was urged today by Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, at a hearing before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee on the nomination of O. H. Caldwell of New York, as a member of the commission.
Senator Dill, a co-author of the commission bill under which the commission was established, complained that by the hookups on chain broadcasting the powerful stations are able to control most of the desired channels during the best hours of the day.
Mr. Caldwell replied that the commission intends to investigate this.
The Senator said he is ready to ask for additional legislation if needed.
A statement by Mr. Caldwell that he is receiving $7000 a year from his former employer, the Motion Picture publishers, in addition to his salary of $10,000 from the government, stirred a spirited debate between Cousens, Republican, Michigan, and Wheeler, Democrat, Montana.
Senator Cousens answered Wheeler's criticism of this circumstance with the declaration that Caldwell's salary is comparable to Senators receiving retainer fees as lawyers while serving in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3. (AP)—Senator Heftin, Democrat, Alabama, issued a statement today renewing his attack on the "Roman Catholic political machine" and condemning newspaper accounts of his speeches in the Senate about the Catholic church and Gov. Smith of New York.
"I am against the insidious efforts of the Roman Catholic political machine," he said, "to tie itself around the neck of the Democratic party.
I am not fighting religious freedom in any way, I am fighting for religious liberty in its broadest and profoundest sense."
"No United States Senator in recent years," he said, "has been as misrepresented and vilified as I have been. While some of the papers have been fair and accurate in their accounts of what occurred in the Senate last week, the majority of them have been unfair and abusive and disgusting to vast numbers of fair-minded Americans."

mittee.
The measure would prevent what are known as "lame-duck sessions" have been defeated previously at the polls.

Steps Taken to

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3. (AP)—A petition was circulated among members of Congress today by the International Reform Federation asking that the Prohibition Act be amended "to prevent evasion, to remedy weaknesses and to stop nullification of the act."
The changes proposed would make jail sentences mandatory for law violations, with a minimum as well as a maximum penalty stipulated and would relax considerably regulations governing the issuance and execution of search warrants, particularly as concerning private homes.

Blast Rocks Closed Mine
ATHENS (G.) Feb. 3. (AP)—The Luhrig mine of the New York Coal Company, six miles west of here, which the owners had proposed reopening on a co-operative basis, was rocked by an explosion tonight.
The mine was unoccupied at the time, and although houses in the vicinity were shaken by the blast no one was believed to be injured.
Mine Superintendent Fitzer expressed the opinion that the explosion was the work of union sympathizers. A rumor had been circulated that the Luhrig mine would reopen on a nonunion basis. This possibly was the reason for the act, he said.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3. (AP)—Secretary Wilbur today cited the loss of the S-4 as an argument for preparedness before the women's patriotic conference on national defense.
"That loss stirred the hearts of the American people," he said, "and they have a right to know whether the Navy Department or any other department is to blame for placing more young men in that position.
If they are to blame the nation will demand that some sort of pun-

"But what will the American peoshape our policy that when war comes our boys are forced into a gation into "racketeering" in Chicago, in which force and violence is used, with special reference to the local trade situation as affecting interstate commerce, he announced today.

"Racketeering" is a term that has been applied to a new phase in mod-ally refers to a condition where small organizations of jobbers attempting to gain control of a business or commodity have resorted to offices' appropriation bill carrying approximately $540,000,000 including funds for the Veterans' Bureau and the reconditioning of government merchant ships, among them the liners Mt. Vernon and Monticello.

Funds of $13,400,000 provided by the House for reconditioning Shipping Board vessels were retained but $150,000 of the total proposed for lawyers' salaries on the board was stricken from the measure.
Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, made an unsuccessful effort to eliminate the allotments of $1,400,- vessels and $12,000,000 for reconditioning the Mt. Vernon and Monticello.

The bill now goes to conference to abandon its efforts to collect the money due under the 1923 and 1925

"Within the next few days suits will be filed to recover all money due the State under these tax laws," Riley said.
Riley during the past seven weeks has collected approximately $700,-

This has brought the total collections to approximately $1,100,000.
Since the first law was passed, as voluntarily by the operators while suits testing the constitutionality of the statutes were pending.

COMMON COLD
BALKED BY RAY
Ailment Prevented Through
Ultra-Violet Treatment
Tests Made With Students
at Eastern University Results Show Importance of Sunshine to Health

ITHACA (N. Y.) Feb. 3. (AP)—Experiments in progress at the Cornell University college of medicine here indicate that ultra-violet rays will prevent the common cold.
Twenty-five freshmen, receiving two radiation treatments a week from a mercury vapor lamp, are building up a resistance to the disease which is not enjoyed by an untreated group of their classmates. Results obtained to date show that both the number and severity of colds among the irradiated students are reduced by 50 per cent.
The experiments were started a year ago by Dr. George H. Laughan and Dr. D. F. Smiley to test a theory that some people seldom suffer from colds in summer, sunlight has something to do with their immunity.
"It seems that is the case," say the physicians. The lesson, they add, is that men, women and children must learn to take advantage of the sunshine. Nature's ultra-violet storehouse.

Order Begins to Rise Out of Ash-Covered Ruins

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3. (P)—Last night's fire in the business center of this city tonight is a waste of money, the result of the disaster which swept the area around the City Hall last night and early this morning. Taking toll of the losses before the embers are cold, estimates estimate the property damage variously from $7,000,000 to $25,000,000. Insurance companies place the loss even higher, at $30,000,000.

The damage was even greater than that caused by the conflagration of January 18, 1916, which ravaged a large section of the city. Items in the loss were:

THOUSANDS LOSE JOBS

Thousands of more buildings destroyed, many more damaged. Approximately sixty stores and business establishments wiped out or badly damaged that it may be some time before they will open for normal.

Losses of persons out of employment.

Losses of assistance in the work of rebuilding reached the city tonight. Many sources, including the Red Cross, due to the fact that the central district was un-

QUESTION BOX

L.M.A., Pasadena—Will the judges have before them and give most weight to the title the artist intended to illustrate or will the judges select as winning title the one getting a majority of the votes of all contestants? ANSWER—The judges will have no artistic list before them, as no list of titles is in existence. It is presumed they will be guided in their selections by choices of the majority.

MRS. F.W. McE., Los Angeles—Will persons with one correct answer stand a better chance than those having a correct answer but using two coupons? ANSWER—Incorrect answers count against you only in the event of a tie in the total number of correct answers. See Rule No. 7.

G.F.S., Ocean Park—Must the selected title be merely, in one's opinion, the best fitted for the picture, without regard to the general theme or story or episodes in the book whose title is selected? ANSWER—Title should fit the picture. The pictures bear no relation to the contents of books, unless that should happen purely by coincidence.

B.G.F., Los Angeles—Are the sample pictures shown from time to time given correct titles? Is it necessary to be familiar with the story of books in order to find appropriate titles, or is it only necessary to study the pictures? ANSWER—The titles given to sample pictures are merely to illustrate the working method of the Picturegame. There are no "correct" titles. Players should select those they think BEST. It is not at all necessary to know the story of books, nor is there any advantage in having read them.

A.N., Ontario—See answer to L.M.A. above. The person having the highest number of "best" titles will win first prize, no matter how many he or she may have "incorrect." However, if two or more people have that same highest number of best titles, the one having the least number of "incorrect" titles would rank highest; the one having the next lowest number of "incorrect" titles would be second, etc. See Rule No. 7 which explains this point. Extra coupons may be secured anywhere you choose. In submitting two or three complete sets of answers, only the best set, if ranking among the 750 highest, would receive an award.

H.L., Hollywood—If one's first choice of title is crossed out and a new one inserted above, will that disqualify one? ANSWER—No.

DAISY B., Los Angeles—The four-page circular you refer to, containing a list of titles to the first ten pictures, was intended principally to "show how it works." It would be safer to refer to the Official Catalogue.

C.M.B., Los Angeles—If a set of good answers, one to each picture, is handed in, and another set with 10 containing the same answers, but with many of the pictures having one or two additional titles, which would take highest rank in the final judging? ANSWER—The first named (with least number of titles). Back pictures have been mailed to you.

The Pelican Isn't Generally Regarded as a Belligerent Bird, but he can fight when he feels in a fighting mood. California Annexes 35-to-36 Tilt from Locals

Star Bear Center Rings Up Twenty Points

Wins Game by Shooting Four as Gun Barks

BY BRAVEN DYER

Cracking the canals through the air on a few throw in the last three minutes of play, Vern Corbin gave California a 35-to-36 victory over the U.C.L.A. basketball team at the Olympic gym last night. The two teams were tied at 34-all when the umpire detected little Art Williams annoying Corbin in some way he shouldn't. At a time-keeping rule, a cannon shot the California center dropped to 14. Local fans roared and plunked the persimmon into the basket for victory and the twentieth point of the evening. It was a spectacular game from start to finish and the play of it was all the Bruins had to lose on. Immediately after waving such a splendid battle against tremendous odds, Corbin and two-tyke Williams were helplessly out-matched in their efforts to guard the California six-footers. What the Bruins did to Corbin in the last few minutes of play we don't know, but perhaps he was kicking the electric California center on the spine. After taking time out the Bruins got going and at one time were only 1 point behind, the count reading 33 to 32.

The second stanza was a wild and woolly affair, with the score 31 to 30 in favor of the visitors. California jumped away to a 3-point lead when Corbin shot three baskets before the Bruins knew the fun had started. After taking time out the Bruins got going and at one time were only 1 point behind, the count reading 33 to 32.

BANK PLANS UNCOMPLETED

New Security Bank and Trust May Further Revise Official Name; Part of Los Angeles Program

BY EARLE K. CROWE

From the formal announcement of the consolidation of the United and Security Bank systems into the Security Bank and Trust Company of California, it appears that the matter of name has not been definitely determined.

The rapid rise of this new State-wide system, which has nearly approached the sensational in character, has been carried on under so many different names, in fact, that it has been difficult to trace the progress of events.

In hardly a year's time, a total of fifty-nine banking offices have been acquired or established through three different agencies, all of which are now combined under the name of the Security Bank and Trust Company.

The vehicles for this program were the State-wide word "The United Bank and Trust Company," French-American Corporation, and the Security Bank and Trust Company of Bakersfield.

NAME ONLY TEMPORARY

Under the consolidation and the new name, it was believed at first that the old-established name of the United Bank and Trust Company would pass out of existence.

But in the meantime, the bank, it is stated, that the new name is only temporary, and it is hoped that the name "United" will be incorporated into the title of the bank in some manner.

To those who have been following the amazing progress of this banking system, the statement relative to the name "United" is an intimation that the name of the system into Los Angeles. In order to enter this system, the Security Bank and Trust Company, according to a ruling of the State Banking Department, must place its name before the word "Security."

This ruling was made as the result of opposition by the Security Bank to the employment by other banks of the name "Security."

It is reported that the Security Bank is now considering the adoption of the name "United" as a permanent name.

The fact that the use of Security Bank and Trust Company, as a name, is only a temporary expedient is an indication that the Los Angeles plan is nearly ready for announcement.

Additional corroborative evidence is being furnished by the fact that the present stock of the United Bank and Trust Company will pass to the Security Bank and Trust Company.

Which bank the new system is negotiating before the State Banking Department, several have been mentioned, including the Merchants' National Bank, the Security Bank, and the United Bank.

But to all of these rumors, the Merchants' Bank has given emphatic denial, including the fact that it is not buying and selling of the bank.

On the strength of a report that two and one-half shares of the bank were sold yesterday to 150, equivalent to 600 on the old shares.

DISCOUNT RATE UP IN BAY CITY

Twelfth Area Reserve Bank Chief Announces Boost to 4 Per Cent

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3. (P)—The board of directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco has established with the approval of the Federal Reserve Board a rediscount rate of 4 per cent, effective on the 4th inst.

This superseded the existing rate of 3 1/2 per cent.

The increased rate was formally announced this afternoon by Isaac B. Newton, chairman of the board and Federal Reserve agent.

The 3 1/2 per cent rate became effective September 10, 1927.

For weeks the financial district has exaggerated the importance of cheap money and minimized the significance of underlying tightening influences in the bill market.

It has not even taken too serious the reserve market's heavy liquidation of government securities—although the sale of $187,000,000 of government securities in the last three weeks should have indicated that the reserve banks were modifying their money policy.

When time money yesterday fell 1/4 of 1 per cent, bringing the ninety-day rate down to 4 3/8 per cent, there were those who drew this to their bosom and found comfort.

More closely related to the change in the rediscount rate than some people appreciate is the upward leap in brokers' loans.

The $27,000,000 increase announced last week afternoon brings the total back to $8,815,000,000, almost to the record of $9,000,000,000.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 9. (AP)—The curb market today opening weak with an accumulation of selling orders, raising a bit and then closing off under liquidation influenced by the increase in the Federal Reserve Bank's discount rate.

The decline was marked in the utilities, where a continued advance over the past two weeks was checked by a selling movement that carried American Light and Traction down 7 points, Electric Bond and Share 4 points, and Edison Electric 3 points.

Bad laws, if they exist, should be repealed as soon as possible; still, while they continue in force, for the sake of example they should be religiously observed.

PARENTAL PREROGATIVE
If young folks insist on marrying men old enough to be their grandfathers, need they be surprised if an occasional paternal spanking tries to make them settle down and remember how much there has been to "settle up?"

BOY WANTED
The world is hard to please. A New Hampshire father took potshots enough to kill an army because the first baby was a girl instead of a boy. A few years hence and somebody else's boy will be giving three cheers that she is a girl.

FOR BETTER MUSIC
The New York Philharmonic Orchestra is more than eighty years old and is said to be the oldest organization in America devoted to orchestral music. It has been the stay and inspiration for numbers of other like bodies. The philharmonic have to be the nation's uplifter in musical way. Were it not for them we might all go over the hills with the jannies.

BUXOM CHORES
The impresario of the Polles still says that he is through with the string-bean girl—as a type. He is no longer picking the skinny ones for his front row. He wants his ladies to be pleasantly plump—more like the dirt pickles than the string beans. Of course he will not permit them to take on fat, but he expects them to have something on their bones besides chaffon. This decision will give the chorines a little wider latitude with their lumbos. They may have something heavier than spinach and pineapple juice. Just a bit of burlesque seems to be all right with the first business man.

AN ARCADIA OF THE NORTH
Sir Wilfred Grenfell, the Northland adventurer, presents Labrador as a land of no murders, no suicides, no drunkenness, no scandals, no divorces, no spies, no elements and no politics. This is a highly attractive sound to many world-weary souls, but it must also be remembered that Labrador depends largely upon the aurora borealis for its lights and the hunter's rifle for its dinners. There are few highways and no amusements and these factors put it out of the reckoning of the modern states. Years ago a book called "Lost in Labrador" was accounted a tale of tragic adventure. It would still be such to many persons.

AL FOR ONE
Senator Nye voices threats that a political constitution of the South and West is possible with the idea of carrying war against the North and East. The country once had a division of the North and South and has barely recovered from the tragic effects. Politicians who encourage divisions of Uncle Sam's domain along geographical, racial or religious lines are a menace to the nation's peace. There is no section, class, or interest in such a struggle as would warrant declaring a feud against another section or interest. The spirit of America is pledged to equality of justice and opportunity. There should be no such thing as an embittered South or an appreciative East. All avenues of effort are opened to all Americans.

SINISTERS AND ECONOMICS
The Mississippi Senate has defeated a measure that provided for a tax of $100 on bachelors within the confines of the State. The experiment of Mussolini in Italy has apparently been well advertised, even if not carefully studied in its intent and effects. Recent proposals for a bachelor tax in England to recoup the royal treasury have been much discussed and perhaps the most startling comment coming out of the debate is that of an English bachelor who indignantly declares that he has unsuccessfully asked ten fair ones to marry him and, having been refused, should not be taxed for their poor judgment.

In addition to the fact that the United States has the largest bachelor tax on record, bachelor-taxes are not wise as means of local revenue raisers. The Federal income tax exemption of $2000 more for a married man than for a bachelor amounts to a bachelor tax equal to the tax on $2000 of income. Such a tax would send a lot of European bachelors.

Mississippi's proposal was wholly unwelcome from a Mississippi standpoint for it was a proposal for double taxation and a drive for local taxation which would have driven bachelors in border areas State lines for refuge in lands where senators appropriate instead of taxing them. Neighboring States would be holding bachelor roundups already had the measure passed the Mississippi Legislature. The amount involved was not very great, but bachelors as a class are convinced of their superior attractiveness and would be piqued so painfully that they would stage a begin of a new wealth similar discriminatory taxation at them. Far better to pay a bonus to bachelors until they are caught than to drive them farther into the hills with cruel tariffs.

A DECLARATION OF WAR

Justifying a general impression that his decision to "stand aside" as a candidate for President in 1928 did not carry with it any intention of retiring from the active field of politics, William G. McAdoo, speaking under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League, has issued a formidable challenge to the Presidential aspiration of Gov. Smith of New York and again established prohibition as the basic issue within the Democratic party.

Apparently the result of careful planning as to time and place, the utterance of the former Secretary of the Treasury must be accepted on its face as a definite warning that the two forces among the Democrats are determined to present a solidly hostile front to the Smith candidacy and that they will bring forward a champion to oppose the New York Governor on the wet and dry question.

Whether their champion will be Mr. McAdoo himself or another acceptable to the McAdoo leaders, may, possibly, be a matter to be determined by developments. In his statement some months ago announcing that he would not seek the Democratic Presidential nomination Mr. McAdoo did not positively close the door. He could, under circumstances, by no means unique in political strategy, find occasion for graceful acceptance of the nomination if it could be tendered him under advantageous conditions.

In any event, Mr. McAdoo has taken, to indicate his desire to accept leadership in the anti-Smith movement. Superficially, there has been no material change in the relative positions of the contending forces that held the Democratic national convention in a hopeless deadlock in 1924. The Smith group undoubtedly has found reason for encouragement here and there, but the Governor's political foes are more perfectly organized and are no less determined now than in 1924 to prevent his nomination.

The advent of a State prohibition enforcement law in New York is stressed by McAdoo as ample cause for questioning the sincerity of Smith's ostensible attitude toward the Eighteenth Amendment. And the direct reference to the New York Governor apparently was intended to apply with equal force to the Presidential ambitions of Gov. Ritchie of Maryland, whose wet sympathies are held partly responsible for the failure of the Maryland Legislature to enact a law designed to give State courts jurisdiction under the Volstead Act.

Assuming that liquor interests have captured political power both in New York and Maryland, the former Secretary of the Treasury left little to the imagination of his hearers with regard to what he believes would happen if a President hostile to prohibition should reside in the White House.

"The White House is in the hands of the liquor interests," Mr. McAdoo said, "would be a veritable Gibraltar of offensive operations and the doom of the Eighteenth Amendment would be written boldly upon the face of the Constitution."

Thus are the battle lines drawn. It is of notable significance that the address concerned itself largely with the wet and dry issue from the standpoint of the attitude to be adopted by the Democratic party. This attitude, Mr. McAdoo insisted, must be decided by a conclusive struggle during the forthcoming campaign.

True, he held that the Federal government in Republican hands has failed properly to enforce prohibition, but his strictures were mild in this connection. He spoke of "contending himself" with complaint that appropriations have not been adequate and that Washington has not obtained full co-operation from the States.

The immediate objective, and obviously the more important as a matter of party principles, is formal and unequivocal endorsement by the Democratic national convention of a bone-dry plank and a bone-dry Presidential nominee—with the consequent incidental elimination of Gov. Smith as a serious contender for the nomination. The McAdoo forces have struck the first blow in the renewed struggle for party supremacy and it may be found upon contemplation of the results of the McAdoo speech that they have drawn first blood.

VICTORY FOR SANITY
The report to the Pan-American conference at Havana by a distinguished Peruvian jurist, suggesting a code of rules for international relations, is not so much a victory for the United States as it is a victory for sanity and good sense. The code, drawn up in 1914 by a committee headed by Elihu Root, upholds the use of force to intervene in the affairs of another in the interest of international order, and also upholds the Monroe Doctrine, both by unmistakable inference from the principles stated.

The proposal that "no state may intervene in the internal affairs of another" is pointedly omitted in the report. Its omission is tantamount to an approval of the actions of the United States in Haiti, Santo Domingo and Nicaragua.

Adoption by the conference of this report is regarded as certain, and will cause both surprise and dismay to the circles which have been counting on stirring up trouble for the United States through the Havana conference. The principal criticisms of American policy have been written in Europe and in New York; but they have had their echoes in some of the more radical journals of Latin America. That these criticisms do not represent the sober and considered opinion of Latin America, however, has been abundantly proved at Havana, and the submission of the report of Senator Victor Maurtua furnishes additional proof.

The report, it should be pointed out, is not specially beneficial to the United States. It does not confer upon this country a hegemony of the three Americas; on the contrary it places all American nations on an equality before the law, and gives to each all the rights accorded to others, at the same time imposing upon each the duty of respecting all the rights of others. Section 5, which covers the case of the Monroe Doctrine, reads, in part, as follows:

"Every nation is entitled to a right by law of nations to have that right respected and protected by all other nations."

The significant word, of course, is "protected." It is also significant that the phraseology is all-inclusive and makes the maintenance of the Monroe Doctrine part of the duty of other American nations as well as the United States.

This is as it should be. The burden of extending this protection is one that the United States voluntarily assumed, and which has never as yet been too heavy for our shoulders; but our privilege to call for help if it ever should be needed bulwarks the doctrine of America for Americans.

LEE SIDE O' LA

By Lee Shippey

HE HAD only one day in which to see Los Angeles and its environs, and we wished to give him some idea of the Southland's infinite variety. We asked a friend who drives a good car as a good car should be driven—care—to choose his own route and do his best to make the day a marvelous motion picture in our Kansas friend's memory.

We started early, so as to catch the gold of sunrise on the new City Hall and see the flower market before 8 o'clock. We swung through the heart of the city, throbbing with life, and into Soledad, throbbing with melody. We watched a glimpse of Chinatown and little Nippon and breakfasted in the Little Greek center on East Fourth street where there are one or two Turkish coffee. Then we went to Culver City to show him a great studio; to Venice to show him winter surf bathing; through Ocean Park and Santa Monica, back through Sawtelle and Beverly Hills and had luncheon in Hollywood—served in the patio, and nobody had to stifle a shiver, either.

Made Us Smile
Our friend was dazzled by all the beauty of scenery, of homes, of sunshines and roses and palms and surf bathing in February.

"Just what you've made a mistake," he said. "You have shown me such a marvelous scene that everything else will seem flat."

That made us smile.

Our Infinite Variety
At 1 o'clock we started for Pasadena, undoubtedly one of the three or four most beautiful towns in the world. We went on to the simpler and more rustic loveliness of Sierra Madre, where we saw where a fellow with a pack and a pack of alpenstocks starting out to climb Mt. Wilson.

Those men have been heard of all over America.

"We admit it," we answered. "But we have a small town over here who has been heard of all over the world. The editor of the Lindsay Gazette is Ford Chatters—and what part of the globe hasn't heard of Ford Chatters?"

"Darn you Californians," he grinned.

ARMIES BORN AND LIVING
The proportion of infants who survive the first year in the United States is steadily increasing, according to statistics issued by the Federal Public Health service, but the birth rate is declining. The present death rate within a year of birth is 72.8 per 1000, a notable reduction in this generation. The birth rate has declined from 25.1 per 1000 of population in 1918 to 20.1 in 1924. Of the children born, more survive; but fewer are born.

No accurate figures are available to show whether or not the improvement in health in all ages of children offsets the decline of the birth rate, but it is generally considered at least a fair equivalent for the survival of the race. If conditions have actually improved in the "race suicide" against which Roosevelt warned the country, it appears that reduced mortality in early years of child life has met the challenge up to the present.

In general, the latest figures from the census bureau show that "race suicide" does not find sympathy among American mothers. For instance, 92.4 per cent of the mothers who bore a second child in 1925 still had the first child living. No less than 120,124 mothers bore a fifth child in 1925, 62,291 gave birth to a seventh, and there were 21,678 who in that year welcomed their fifth child, 61.3 per cent had not lost any of the first four. The percentage of previous births has declined from 25.1 per cent to 16.8 per cent, but the percentage of the seventh and beyond has increased from 1.1 per cent to 1.8 per cent.

There may be a sermon on health and racial strength in these figures. It is the number who live that count—the surviving that comprise the race.

FAMILY SKELETONS
The family skeleton is not a source of pride. Every effort is usually made to bribe the uncanny thing to stay in the closet. But the truth is that if there were fewer skeletons in closets, there would be a less dense population in prisons. The dangling, gibbering, grinning skeleton is too often the ancestor of the felon on the scaffold. There is a division of responsibility.

However, all the crime of the country cannot be blamed on the poor old skeleton. It is responsible for much; but this does not release the culprit from his share. Too many boys blame it on dad.

The world might as well find out that in the long run a family skeleton will come out for an airing. It is the only way the hideous thing keeps alive. A man may not desire a parade of the past before the startled gaze of the gossip world; but the hateful thing does not consult the convenience of the parties of the first part. Keeping the closet uncleaned is the only safe way of preventing a pageant of shame.

To the credit of parenthood, at least they were willing to acknowledge the sins of the past in behalf of the son. The love of a father overleaps all barriers and immolates itself as well as its good name.

The only satisfactory home for a skeleton is a mausoleum. Honor buries its past there. A prominent citizen is reported to have made a will with provision of certain sums to each and any possible or impossible widows who may turn up to plague the estate. Whether this sustenance for the

Jan. 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In the Times of Sunday, January 22, there appeared an editorial, "The Fall of Bolshevism," which contained the following statements: "The deportations now taking place carry their own proof that the experiment was a disastrous failure." "The tenets of Marxist Socialism have been abandoned in Russia."

In issue of The Times, January 23, page 4, part 1, is a dispatch, headed "The Fall of Bolshevism," and does not describe the "fall" of Bolshevism. It tells of "immense crowds" gathered in Russia to observe the "fourth anniversary of Red chief's death," and goes on to describe the "magnificent service" held "in the Grand Opera-house."

On page 11, part 1, is a dispatch headed, "White Russians Plan New Union." Part of it reads: "The recent soviet celebrations of ten years of soviet rule is believed to have caused the reaction through such celebration, bringing the enemies of the soviet rule to the fore, and their prospects of returning to a healthy Russia are not improving with the passage of time, but are diminishing."

A professed foe of Bolshevism here at the Home who are daily readers of The Times wish you would explain the editorial. If Bolshevism is falling, why are the editors not able to return? Why is Lenin so reverently honored when we are told he is the founder of Bolshevism?

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The following statement comes to me in a friendly letter from a young college man, a southerner, who is attending Rice Institute in Houston, Tex., scene of the coming Democratic convention:

"I don't really think it will do the Democrats any good to hold a convention at all. Hoover seems to have things pretty well clinched as far as the public is concerned. A few snapshots of himself and his wife were shown at one of the theaters here last week, and the applause which they brought forth was really surprising."

Well, now, if the southerners themselves in Houston, Tex., are not disposed to support Democratic candidates, it does indeed seem foolish to waste time and money on a convention.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Why should the citizens have to feed criminals or endure such expenses as building places to keep them?

I don't just too bad that this country does not pass laws to sterilize all convicted criminals and to exile them after sterilization to some of our distant island possessions.

If we had more such drastic laws, we would have less crime, would we not?

It is not true, that the first thing good physicians do for sick persons, is to purge the patient's system of poisons?

We need in a country like America the death penalty for murder, rape and other crimes against the person, and for the punishment of criminals and we need such laws now!

CHANGES IN EVENING MODES
The new evening frocks to be seen in the world of fashion at Paris have a quaint, feminine quality which is far removed from the straight-lined mode of the past seasons, reports the fashion writer, Bettina Bedwell, in an article in Liberty.

"Changes in fashions are on the way, and the evening modes are more elegant and charming than those of the past," she writes. "The new fashions are memory-stirring models, and suggest that the wearers know all sorts of indefinable alluring secrets."

SEEING MEXICO

BY WILLIAM L. VAHL

Ambassador Dwight Morrow arrived in the City of Mexico three months ago with the announced intention of fixing things. His arrival was hailed with every manifestation of satisfaction by the Mexican officials. Followed the famous ham-and-egg breakfast between himself and President Calles, the President accommodating himself to the eggs, but scrapping the ham. Followed the arrival of Will Rogers, with his mobile smile and joke factory. The Mexicans are still poring over some of the jokes. Followed, Col. Charles August Lindbergh, who came flying out of the fog one winterless morning, and who really conquered Mexico for the first time since Cortez. Followed, Madam Evangeline Lindbergh, gracious, captivating, and finished the good work.

We saw in the past few months events that things look good. I mean by that, the prospects for coming to a real, friendly, work-day understanding with Mexico are imminent.

Just now there is a lull in diplomatic activities because Ambassador Morrow is over in Havana and doing his duty there. President Calles is busy fixing fences, and the commissioners appointed to treat for the purchase of a new animal in place of the white elephant bought by Mr. Paul are here in New York, and there is a constant and voluminous exchange of confidences between the house that Morgan built in New York and the Bank of Mexico; the Supreme Court of Mexico continues to render decisions not adverse to the American oil companies, and the Mexican Congress has repealed, modified or changed the most objectionable provisions of Article XXVII of the Mexican Constitution made in Queretaro.

PASADENA IN NEW GIFT TO MUSEUM

Wineman, Camera Artist, Adds Yosemite Studies to Large Collection

Thirteen new camera studies of scenes in Yosemite National Park were presented yesterday to the Los Angeles Museum of History, Science and Art by Mode Wineman, camera artist of Pasadena, completing the museum's Wineman collection of 200 unreplicated pictures of natural beauty in Western America.

These pictures will be hung in the first hall of the museum, where forty-eight other Yosemite pictures by Mr. Wineman are placed permanently. The rest of the museum's collection consists of camera studies made by the Pasadena artist over a period of twenty-four years in Yellowstone, Grand Canyon and Sequoia National parks, California, New Mexico and Alaska.

In completing the museum's collection, which is the only one of its kind in existence, Mr. Wineman also presented to the institution about 300 letters from government and other notables bearing on the subject.

A further gift was made by the Pasadena artist yesterday when he presented to Yellowstone National Park a letter from President Coolidge in appreciation of a portfolio of pictures taken in the Yellowstone during the Presidential visit there last summer and presented to the President by Mr. Wineman. This letter, framed, will hang in the Calvin Coolidge room of the Yellowstone Museum, with pictures of the President and his party in various park scenes.

These pictures will be hung in the first hall of the museum, where forty-eight other Yosemite pictures by Mr. Wineman are placed permanently. Jury Hears Letter Hickman Wrote to Fellow-Prisoner Telling Plan to 'throw Fit' in Court

KILLER STIRRED BY REVELATION

He Turns Fiery Red During Reading of Epistle

Defense Counsel and State Alienist in Row

Both Sides' Physicians Give Views on Sanity

The defense alienist as to their opinion of Hickman's sanity. The answer to the question came that the kidnaper and killer is insane. High spots in the alienist testimony came during the cross-examination of Dr. A. L. Skog by District Attorney George W. Brown. The defense alienist took the stand.

ROW STARTS

Dr. Skog, who followed Defense Alienist Shelton to the stand yesterday morning, and who joined the defense physician in declaring Hickman insane was turned over by Defense Counsel Walsh for cross-examination at the beginning of the afternoon session, and almost at once became involved in a controversy with Keys.

The defense expert admitted under cross-examination that a major portion of his findings were based on the testimony of the defense physician. Hickman had told him, and he agreed with Keys that the confessed murderer "might have been trying and attempting to deceive me but I do not believe so."

The reaction of Hickman's great-grandson, the young man who was struck by Dr. Skog during an examination made in the County Jail was one of the things on which the defense physician testified. He based his opinion that the child-killer is sane.

"When I gave Hickman this test," declared the doctor, "I discovered that his toe curled upward as the word 'insane' was pronounced as it should. This the physician pointed out is a sure sign that the defendant is not sane."

"Do you really think that when Hickman cut up this little girl he knew that he was doing wrong?"

This question came from Keys and his most impressive answer, when the doctor gave his answer, which did not come for several minutes. It was spoken in a low, hoarse voice, and the front row of court spectators were able to hear it.

The doctor's answer was: "Yes, he knew."

MORE TEARS SEED

Women members of the jury again shed tears yesterday afternoon when Dr. Skog, Dr. A. L. Skog, read into the record the letter which Hickman wrote to his father in the County Jail. The letter was written to his father in the County Jail. The letter was written to his father in the County Jail.

During the reading of his victim's letters and his own boastful epistles, Hickman for the second time in the day showed considerable emotion. His face and in particular his ears blushed a fiery red, and he gulped and swallowed, straining to retain his composure.

BRANDS HIM SANE

As the first mental expert for the prosecution, Dr. Reynolds briefly and cheerily in response to questions put to him by the jury his opinion of Hickman's mental condition.

In five sentences Dr. Reynolds branded the murderer as a sane man who had planned and committed a selfish crime.

Dr. Reynolds testified that:

(1) He will the act.

(2) He intended the harm.

(3) He had a self-regarding motive.

(4) Marion Parker did not produce it, neither did any one else.

(5) That his detailed recital of his performance shows that he was completely aware of what he was doing.

AWARE OF DEED

Summing up his conclusion the state alienist said:

"Hickman's dominant characteristic is coldness, and coldness has long been recognized as the hall-mark of the criminal. But if he presents no signs of insanity from a medical standpoint, he presents even less from a medical-legal standpoint. It is abundantly clear from the cross-examination alone, that he knew the nature and quality of his act at the time it was committed, that he knew it was wrong, and that he was sane."

"The definition of such a wrong act is a voluntary act of intentional harm to self, gratuitously without adequate provocation and with awareness of the circumstances attending the act."

"There is shrewdness, caution, knowledge of right from wrong, clear thinking sense of humor, and no trace of delusions or of impulsiveness." This is the terse manner in which Dr. Reynolds described his opinion of the child-murderer and his crime.

Dr. Reynolds told the jury that in making his examinations he considered the two following questions:

(1) Are we confronted by a human soul that cannot function properly in this world by reason of a diseased brain or a distorted mind?

(2) Are we dealing with a perfectly healthy normal brain and a logical purposive mind, acting in harmony with and animated by an inextinguishable and pitiless greed and selfishness?

BATTLE IN STORE

Under cross-examination conducted by Chief Defense Counsel Walsh Dr. Reynolds engaged in a bitter controversy with the Hickman attorney which was cut short by the conclusion of the court session, but which promises a lively battle when the case is resumed at 9 o'clock today.

Following Dr. Reynolds the prosecution will call to the witness chair all of its alienist, including Dr. Paul Brown, Victor Parlin, Francis Schorr, Frank M. Mikala, Thomas Orison and Edward H. Williams. All of these experts have made long and extensive examinations of the defendant and have reported to the District Attorney that in their opinion he is sane.

A criminal aspect crept into the otherwise grim proceedings yesterday

Own Secret Note Rises to Accuse Child Slayer

Listen Dale - I believe you and believe I can trust you. This me your advice on whether or not I should have married the better. All of these depositions aren't enough to prove me insane. I've got to throw a fit in court and I intend to throw a laughing screaming, diving act before the presentation of these cases - maybe in front of all men Parker himself.

Then I'll trouble the jury. Before the case is ended, I'll get up and ask the judge if I can say something without my attorney putting me. Then I'll get up and give all that about me wanting to be some good by living.

How I intend to rape Mr. Keys before the things are and pull some trick on him in the crazy line.

Shirley, think these things over and tell me whether it is best, or not.

In the state take this thing up because I it would ruin me if I got out.

See you in the morning.

William Edward Hickman.

also "The Fox"

Hi! Hi! Hi!

P.S. You know and I know that I'm not sane.

Prosecution Deals Shattering Blow

Left-Letter Hickman wrote to friend asking advice on "throwing a fit" in the courtroom. Right-Photographic study of the child-killer.

LEFT FLAT FIVE TIMES, HE SAYS

Col. Wheeler Relates Life With Mrs. Klein

Deserted "for good" in 1924, Millionaire Declares

Splits Caused by Money, Nevada Testifies

Mrs. Isabel Klein, who declares she had an agreement with him as his companion, whereby he was to provide for her and her two children for the rest of her life and was to be willed her property at his death, left him no less than five times, according to testimony of Col. E. C. Wheeler in Superior Judge Frederickson's court yesterday.

The colonel is suing Mrs. Klein for $25,000 on notes signed by her and she is suing the aged Nevada millionaire for approximately a quarter of a million dollars charging breach of contract made after the met him in a Chicago law office in 1924.

FINAL BREAK IN 1924

The Nevada said Mrs. Klein left him in Louisville on one occasion. On another she left him in Florida, where he had introduced her as his niece. She parted company with him in Chicago and also in San Francisco, he said. In 1924 she left him "for good," he said, and he considered that he had settled with her financially. He said she returned to her old home in Arkansas with her children.

The witness said money differences were the cause for the separations, which broke up the arrangements for her to be a member of his family, care for him, look after his affairs and to nurse him, as she asserted in her cross-complaint.

Attorney George A. Aretz for Mrs. Klein, who has had Wheeler on the witness stand for two days, asked him if it wasn't true that he had established a trust fund of $37,500 in the bank for Mrs. Klein, when she threatened to leave him again after they had renewed their friendship.

HE DOESN'T REMEMBER

He testified that he didn't remember that he would have to refresh his memory from his books, which now are in possession of Mrs. Klein.

Attorney Aretz continued to introduce documents, letters and papers in the case yesterday, relative to the claims that Wheeler promised her a fine home, automobiles and other luxuries in exchange for her agreement to look after him for the rest of his life.

The colonel denied that he made such promises, but admitted he had agreed to provide $500 a month. The trial will be resumed Monday morning.

Two Fathers to Help Reduce City Rock Pile

Two-year sentences at hard labor on the city rock pile were imposed yesterday by Municipal Judge Rogers on two asserted irresponsible fathers for failing to provide for their children.

Felix Rizzo, 25 years of age, 100-1 North Clarence street, was just a trifle slow in leaving the country, according to testimony adduced by Deputy City Prosecutor Ida V. Wells. Rizzo told his wife Grace, 1125 South Dacotah street, that he would "leave the country before consenting to pay you any money," she testified.

Judge Rogers ordered Rizzo incarcerated for two years during which time his children, Alice and Gloria, 3 months, will receive $2 for each day he labors at road work.

A two-year term also was meted out to Rufus Rodriguez, 25, 555 South Fresno street, for failing to support his two children. Rodriguez did not offer any defense. His children also will receive $2 each day he loafs.

DISMISSAL OF DUNDEE CASE FAILS

Judge Denies Move for Boxer and Manager and Sets Trial for March 16

A motion by Deputy City Prosecutor Barnes before Municipal Judge Blake yesterday to dismiss charges of false advertising against Joe Dundee, world's welterweight boxing champion, and his manager, Max Wampson, on grounds of insufficient evidence, failed when the court denied the move and set trial for March 16.

The move of the deputy prosecutor to dismiss the charges against the pugilist and his manager did not include a dismissal of similar charges against Dick Donald, promoter of the Dundee-Hudkins fight on November 8, 1927.

Attorney R. D. Knickerbocker, counsel for Donald, opposed the dismissal of charges against Dundee and Wampson unless his client was included in the bargain. However, Knickerbocker explained he is ready to go to trial for Donald and requesting Dundee and Wampson as witnesses in the action.

Deputy Prosecutor Barnes told the court there is insufficient evidence on which to prosecute the boxing champion and his manager. He requested the trial date Judge Blake overruled all motions until before the trial is opened, he said.

Attorney R. E. Knickerbocker, representing Dundee and Wampson, requested immediate trial or dismissal, as he said the Dundee-Hudkins fight was a publicity stunt and the manager was not interested in the outcome of the fight.

Donald on November 8, 1927, was to promote a world's championship welterweight fight at Wrigley Field. Everything was fine until the time for Dundee to enter the ring against Ace Hudkins. It developed that Donald was unable to post the guarantee promised and the champion refused to go through with the program.

He testified that he didn't remember that he would have to refresh his memory from his books, which now are in possession of Mrs. Klein.

Attorney Aretz continued to introduce documents, letters and papers in the case yesterday, relative to the claims that Wheeler promised her a fine home, automobiles and other luxuries in exchange for her agreement to look after him for the rest of his life.
